

Ayria, Debris

In perfect rhythm marching
One beat uniting all these hearts
We stand for something somewhere
My strength and pride control my thoughts
I always thought the worst of almost everything I do
I never want to end up so fucking jaded like you

But you'll never break me down
You just rip me from the core
I take what goes and comes around
It always leave me wanting more

I stand in line behind you
I breathe and live a silent dream
That I'll fall out of step
But I'm taught that's who I never want to be
I stay aligned with values
Are these the ones that I would choose
If I led this line
And had the power like you?

But you'll never break me down
You just rip me from the core
I take what goes and comes around
It always leave me wanting more

This fire
Desire

You always thought you were a fighter
You knew you'd never win a fight
You always fought to be the fighter

You want to fight?

You never thought through your anger
You said you tried
You want to fight me?
Now everything crashes on you
You still try to fight
Well fuck you

You want to fuck?
You want to fuck me?
