

Azure Ray, Nothing Like A Song

you didn't say the words i would have said You couldn't help the doubt that filled your head It's just an ordinary try we learn to live we live to die just accept and don't ask why my lips they form a crooked smile giving a sign of no reply and when you wake up freezing in a room dark and empty well, just keep singing along i'm not what you write in your books and no im nothing like a song and will you answer me i already know i asked you to answer me i already know and can you come back home you already know you don't ask because you already know it's an unfamiliar song you said you'd like to sing along but you couldn't change the key i can't sing it doesn't suit me and when i wake up freezing now half believing it was this i feared because its not just the words that you whisper in my ear
i asked you an answer i already know
and can you come back home you already know you don't ask cause you already know and will you come backhome
