Babyshambles, Up The Morning

Up the morning, up, up the morning Up the morning, up, up the morning Up the morning, up, up the morning Up the morning, up, up the morning Up the morning, up, up the morning Every time I see your face It makes me sad, it makes me chase Chase my love across the world Even though you're not its taste Simple, evil, I don't walk alone Every time I see your face It makes me cry, it makes me wait Waited far too long and you were over me But it's okay 'cause I know where you will go, I will go Up the morning, up, up the morning Up the morning, up, up the morning Up the morning, up, up the morning Up the morning, up the morning Up the morning, up, up the morning And if I, if I could go back in time And if I, if I could go back in time I'd go to show, what did I show? I would not show The nights and the fights When I came rumbling out the door Well, what was I supposed to do? Where's a boy supposed to, supposed to go? Up the morning, up, up the morning Up the morning, up, up the morning