

Backandtotheleft, Setting Sun

I remember laughing in the rain
Running throught the street seeking out some shade
Yet I remember wearing all the pain
Shackles draw the marks that even time can&#039;t fade

Do you remember
These battles could be won
Do you remember
There&#039;s life beyond the setting sun
Do you remember
How rich this path could be?
Do you remember me?

I remember feeling whole inside
The warmth that love can bring
Melting all the ice
Yet i remember sorrow&#039;s sweeping tide
Water filling lungs
External
sleep would suffic

Do you remember
These battles could be won
Do you remember
There&#039;s life beyond the setting sun
Do you remember
How rich this path could be?
Do you remember me?

I remember waltzing through the night
Donning dancing shoes
That never seem to wear yet I remember failing to make things right
A broken man is lfet for dead and gasping for air

Do you remember
These battles could be won
Do you remember
There&#039;s life beyond the setting sun
Do you remember
How rich this path could be?
Do you remember me?