Bad Company, Stranger Stranger

Bad Company
Holy Water
Stranger Stranger
There's a crazy moon, a crazy sky, looking down on me
I've been losing track of time
It's been the hardest day, the longest night I've ever spent alone
I can't get you off my mind

You know what I've been missing, do I really have to say We talk but you don't listen, it's not always been that way, no, she's a

Chorus:

Stranger, stranger - you're not the girl I knew, will you ever be the same You act like a stranger, stranger - tell me it ain't true Won't you please explain, why you're so strange

In the morning gloom, this empty room, I can see your face When I look again, you're gone Your memory, so close to me, it leaves a trace Won't you tell me what went wrong

No sign, no words, no warning, we can never be the same, no When you walked out that morning, you know you left nothing but the blame

I know that you're a - chorus

(Solo)

Oh, you're a - chorus repeats 2x
