

Badlees, Thinking In Ways

(alexander/naydock)

when I die, call this number unencumber yourself from the details the whole thing's bought and paid for the box, the viewing and one more ride bought a plot by some azaleas they never fail to impress in the brochure see me off at sunset I hope it's glorious outside

I am thinking in ways
that I never have before I am counting the days
that I never have before

of course the breakfast will be dinner your choice of a couple of entrees you'll meet some real characters some even I haven't seen in a while

I am thinking in ways
I never have before
I am counting the days
that I never have before

I need you to distribute everything that I have written down here they are bits and pieces of all who made me what I am drink a few, get to know them don't forget to tip your waitress through them you'll know me better and life is really worth a damn

I am thinking in ways
I never have before
I am counting the days
that I never have before