

Bananarama, You'll Never Know What It Means

Set yourself free
Set yourself free, free
Set yourself free
Set yourself free, free

To love somebody
To love somebody
To love somebody

When you can't face another day
Don't you ever stop and wonder
Why it's all work and there's no play
Why do you let them drag you under

Do you wanna hear how it should be
Face the world don't hide behind it
You've only got yourself to please
Happiness is where you find it

Until you set yourself free
You'll never hold on to your dreams
Until you get your release
You'll never know what it means
To love somebody
You'll never know what it means

So you had a sleepless night
Been so long you can't remember
Since you had a real good time
You can't go on like this forever

Until you set yourself free
You'll never hold on to your dreams
Until you get your release
You'll never know what it means
To love somebody
You'll never know what it means

To love somebody
You'll never know what it means
To love somebody

Do you wanna hear how it should be
Face the world don't hide behind it
You've only got yourself to please
Happiness is where you find it

Until you set yourself free
You'll never hold on to your dreams
Until you get your release
You'll never know what it means
To love somebody
You'll never know what it means

To love somebody
You'll never know what it means

Until you set yourself free
You'll never hold on to your dreams
Until you get your release
You'll never know what it means
To love somebody
You'll never know what it means
