

Band Aid, We are the world

There comes a time when we heed a certain call When the world must come together as one There