She reads the leaves and she leads the life

That she learned so well from the old wives

Em □ d□ c□□□ d

It's so strange to arrange it, you know i wouldn't change it

Em□□ d□ c□□ d

But hear me if you're near me, can i just rearrange it?

The watchman covers me

With his remedy

I can't see and it's hard to feel

D □□ c□ d g

I think his magic might be real

I can't get to you from your garden gate

You know it's always locked by the magistrate

Now he don't care why you cry, he thinks it's just a lie

To get out, i don't doubt that you'd make a try

If the good times get you through

I know the dogs won't bother you

We'll be gone in moonshine time

I've got a place they'll never find

You know i do believe in your hexagram

But can you tell me how they all knew the plan?

Did you trip or slip on their gifts, you know you were just a con?

You knew it, why d'you do it, i've been hiding in the dark

Now i must be on my way

I guess you really have to stay
