

Bandcamp, Someone

"Well I'm battered down
I'm burnt out like a half of a cigarette and I'm passed out on the floor
Thinking am I happy yet?
I'm filmed in black in white
But you remember me in colors
Singing songs about my heartache and my jealousy of others..
It's hard to explain it and hard to contain it It's hard to explain how it feels

'Til there's someone to cry about
Someone to fight it out
Someone to say..you're the reason they breathe
'til there's someone you're crazed about
the one you can't live without
Someone to say...
You're the reason they breathe..

I'm feeling kind of lonely

'Cause I lost my train of thought
Tried to run away from thinking
But it only got me caught
I'm as open as a rose
When summers air can spare no rain
In this drought I'm almost dead
And in this sun I'm rather plain Does it help you to cling to the shell you've turned into?
I wish you the best and the worst"

'Til there's someone to cry about
Someone to fight it out
Someone to say..you're the reason they breathe
'til there's someone you're crazed about
the one you can't live without
Someone to say...
You're the reason they breathe..

no..