

Bang Gang, The World Is Gray

You wake up in the night and you feel
Like everything around you is so real
You cannot find the day and let go
Of all the things that touched you from within
Of all the things that make you feel so unreal

The world is gray
You're all alone
Maybe if someone helps you home
The emptiness
That brings you down
Keeps you searching for the ground
You're searching for the ground

You look up to the light and you feel
How certainly it's easier to breathe
The echos of the past fade away
You're happy to believe in another day
You're happy that you're living another way

The world is gray
You're all alone
Maybe if someone helps you home
The emptiness
That brings you down
Keeps you searching for the ground

The world is gray
You're all alone
Maybe if someone helps you know
The emptiness
That brings you down
Keeps you searching for the ground
You're searching for the ground

The sun keeps shining behind the crowd
And you wait till it burns them down
And you know that you'll find the right one
You're stuck with darkness until it breaks up

The sun keeps shining behind the crowd
And you wait till it burns them down
And you know that you'll find the right one
You're stuck with darkness until it breaks up
Until you break up

The world is gray
You're all alone
Maybe if someone helps you home
The emptiness
That brings you down
Keeps you searching for the ground

The world is gray
You're all alone
Maybe if someone helps you home
The emptiness
That brings you down
Keeps you searching for the ground
You're searching for the ground
You're searching for the ground
You're searching for the ground