Bangles, The, Angels Don't Fall In Love

Bangles, The Different Light Angels Don't Fall In Love (v. peterson/s. hoffs) Vicki

I saw you today She's lovely You're such a heavenly pair You hope and you pray Someday she'll take you all the way there

You should know better, darling When push comes to shove Angels don't fall in love

You stand at the gate Hoping to gain admission How long are you willing to wait She won't give permission tonight

You've got your higher aims Got your ambitions You think you're spiritual And on some mission

Well, i can see it when i look in your eyes When you think of love You think of compromise

It's no big disgrace
There's no loss of grace
The trouble is there's always someone there to take your place
And the trouble is you don't believe that it's true
When the sun goes down there's something left for you

The trouble is i see you missing so much While you're knocking on all the wrong doors Looking for some angel's touch You think she's everything you're dreaming of The trouble is those angels never fall in love
