Banks Tony, Big Man

Banks Tony
Bankstatement
Big Man
The hot seat's vacant cos he gave up the reins
He's kissed his title goodbye run far away
He's gone to ground in some hole - I don't know where
All I know is somehow that I'm big man up here

I don't need your worship Just need a sacrifice each day No need to worry Just want to help in every way

I just don't know what all these levers are for I don't know it but I'm reasonably sure I've got a red light warning - I don't know why Maybe it will go away if I close my eyes

I don't need your worship Just need a sacrifice each day No need to worry Just want to help in every way Help every day In every way

I don't know what's come over me I'm really feeling rather strange

I got no time for wisdom cos I'm the fool I got no time for those who won't obey my rules Some day I won't be teacher - I don't know when But I'm gonna please myself until then

I don't need your worship Just need a sacrifice each day No need to worry Just want to help in every way Help every day In every way
