

Barbies Cradle, Stars

If i could see you next monday it'd be alright
I'll just hold on to the memory of tonight
And i could smile at 3am
When i close my eyes and I pretend
That you're here
And you're listening
And you care about what I'm feeling
This optimism was never in my book
And now what a blessing
You gotta see how it took
Away all the pain with the rain tonight
As i lie here thinking
How it would be alright
If you're here
And you're listening
And you care about what I'm feeling
No pretensions, no promises
Just wishes and all that I am
Is grateful for the stars
Which are you when they shine
Oh they shine in my sky
