Barbra Streisand, Above The Law (Duet With Bar

This is me talking to you Tell me what your heart can do? Tell me by surprise, whatever you see You'll never be alone with me

I close or open the door Telling you that less is more You cannot disguise whatever you do No one is above the law

In these dark and troubled times People just surviving We live a double life

You'd be safe and warm at home Something else is going on We don't have to kiss and say no more about it And if your eyes are watching me

Baby, life could be so beautiful And we become invisible The pleasure is the punishment For the crime

Break away the chains that bind It's not enough to be satisfied It's knowing how it all begins Or knowing where the heart belongs And we all make mistakes

It's your heart and my heart And no one can take part And our love Is love above the law

So you decide we go insane I know what you came here for Whether you are mine I'll never be sure We'll ever be above the law

On this dark and stormy night Where these walls may hide us You sigh and let me in

You let me hold you in these arms of mine (One flame inside)
Tomorrow is eternity
(Temptation eyes)
And we may get to kiss and say no more about it (No tears to cry)
And if my eyes are watching you

Baby, life could be so beautiful And everything is possible And we become invisible

It's your heart and my heart And no one can take part I'll always be with you It's what I'm living for

The end of my rainbow

Is outside your window And our love is one love Love above the law
