

Barbra Streisand, Honey Can I Put On Your Clothes

Honey, honey, can I put on your clothes?

Because they feel so good

And they feel like you

Oh, won't you please let me

Because they get to me

They touch me and then move me

I get to thinking I won't be needin'

Anything more to keep me warm

I feel the feeling of you

All the way through

No other feeling will ever do

Honey, honey,

Can I put on your clothes?

Because they feel so good

And they feel like you

They're just like old friends

When we're together

They comfort me and soothe me

They're not brand new

They're a little worn through,

But they're comfy and roomy

They do something to me

And when I stay at home

And you're far away

I won't be lonely all through the day

Honey, honey,

Can I put on your clothes?

Because they feel so good

And they feel like you

I feel the feeling of you

All the day through

No other feeling will ever do

Honey, honey,

Can I put on your clothes?

Because they feel so good

And they feel like you...

Honey, honey, honey. . .Hum...
