

Barclay James Harvest, The, The Sun Will Never

Barclay James Harvest, The

Barclay James Harvest

The Sun Will Never Shine

In corridors of air the clouds were waiting there

They knew that never again the skies would be so blue

They took away the sun and with it took the fun

It's true, and now there is really nothing i can do

So i look outside my window at the sheets of pouring rain

And i wonder if the sun will come again

But the sun will never shine the way it used to do

The clouds won't let it through

Oh the sun will never shine its smile for me and you

The clouds won't let it through

It wasn't long ago the people that i knew were glad

And nothing they ever thought about was sad

But since the sun has gone their laughing times are none

That's bad, to make them forget the happy times they've had

So they look outside their window at the sheets of pouring rain

And they wonder if the sun will come again

But the sun will never shine the way it used to do

The clouds won't let it through

Oh the sun will never shine its smile for me and you

The clouds won't let it through

[barclay james harvest, ?ardmore & beechnwood/emi]