Never Felt Better

Some people call us wolves in sheep's clothing

They don't like the kind of music we play

"Dropped out of school, a pack of lazy young fools

They haven't even combed their hair today"

I have no intention to cause an intervention

In the way its thought my life ought to be

But why not take the time to walk a mile in my shoes

And you will see the way this world looks to me

And we've never felt better

Not looking back; got no tome to back track

Never better

And it still doesn't matter what they say

Rock and roll is here to stay

Stabbed in the back by a few we once trusted

Then left to bleed alone in the dirt

Unfounded lies behind innocent eyes

Without a thought about the ones that were hurt

This may be a disappointment, but we're not dead yet

It doesn't matter anymore what they say

'Cause the truth's in the music, and the music's in me

So I guess that means we're here to stay

And we've never felt better

Won't get embroiled in a fruitless turmoil

Never better

'Cause no matter what the critics might say, rock and roll is here to stay

Fame is a liar and a silver-lined hole

It says compromise is quicker to pay

Strike a vinyl gusher, let the good times roll

There's mammon in the message today

Still its all gonna burn, every cent that is earned

And its only just a manner of time

But with innocence dead, there is conflict instead

When 'Spirit led' becomes pantomime

But we've never felt better

Straight for the sky baby, do it or die

Never better

And its ok to be this way

'Cause rock and roll is here to stay
