

Barnes And Barnes, The Inevitable Song

Barnes And Barnes

Spazchow

The Inevitable Song

There used to be a special light

That shone down on our love at night

But every bulb must lose its glow

It's hard to sit and watch it go

I won't kiss you I won't miss you anymore

I won't touch you I won't clutch you anymore

The cat comes in the cat goes out

No one knows what loves about

Bouncing off the floor and walls

Always rolling down the hall

I won't kiss you I won't miss you anymore

I won't touch you I won't clutch you anymore

There used to be a special light

That shone down on our love at night

Our love is like a dinosaur

It's not living anymore

I won't kiss you I won't miss you anymore

I won't touch you I won't clutch you anymore

I won't squeeze you I won't please you anymore

I won't beat you I won't eat you anymore

Yeah

sallysally@usa.net