

Bayside, Write Back

the light bends
around us
and it keeps us from being found as we find each other once again right back where we started
we left our hearts
ready to fall back in again
open arms
seems so far above than what we deserve encircled by crowds of promises dancing 'round as they mark and celebrate the end of my years of scared
we left our hearts
open arms
open arms
