The Surfer Moon

There's a moon in the sky somewhere i know

Waiting for all the love to burn below

If you fall and it happens all to soon

Blame it all on the surfer moon

'neath the hill 'hind the cloud one dreamy night

Rising up throwing down its golden light

If your heart hears this melancholy tune

Then you'll know it's the surfer moon

Brings the tide in

Takes it all away

Helps us ride in

Brings us waves each day

I say

Other moons have brought light and love before

Promising to remain for evermore

But they all disappeared with each new tune

They make way for the surfer moon

Moon
