

Beaver, Circumnavigation

sometimes I want to weigh anchor raise her out of the dirt drifting off on a tradewind I'll circumnavigate earth

by surprise I will take you take you with me your security's frail your walls I will break through what a storm that would raise and on that rage I would sail oh the ghost that I've raised into your heartland I'll raid sometimes I just want to lift off raise on magnificent wings gliding off on a tradewind

I'll circumnavigate earth

high in your ivory tower you've drawn your bridges in vain oh there is no place to hide your walls we will break through what a storm that will raise and on that rage we will sail

oh the ghost that I've raised and you'll raise your veil