

Bebo Norman, A Million Raindrops

Can I feel the sun?
Breaking through the gray I'm lost within
Can I hear the wind?
Like a secret telling me I'll live again
I need you
All your thoughts, let them fall
Like a million raindrops
On this desolate ground I'm standing on
Every word from your lips
Like a father's kiss
That all my life I've waited on
Can I walk the line?
Tell me, will you be my safety net?
Can you save a life?
Tangled up in weakness and regret
I know you can
All your thoughts, let them fall
Like a million raindrops
On this desolate ground I'm standing on
Every word from your lips
Like a father's kiss
That all my life I've waited on
That all my life I've waited on
I'm crying out to you
I'm crying out to you, yeah
There's nothing left to lose
There's nothing left to prove, yeah
I'm crying out to you
I'm crying out to you
All your thoughts, let them fall
Like a million raindrops
On this desolate ground I'm standing on
Every word from your lips
Like a father's kiss
That all my life I've waited on
All your thoughts, let them fall
Like a million raindrops
On this desolate ground I'm standing on
Every word from your lips
Like a father's kiss
That all my life I've waited on
That all my life I've waited on