

Bebo Norman, Other Side of Day

Was it You who spoke the earth to be?
And wrapped it all in mystery
For the taking, for the taking
Is it Thee who turns away my soul?
From evidence so beautiful
That You gave me, that You gave me
When I've fallen in the shadows of the sun
Only You remain the hope of what's to come
'Cause on a night like tonight, You bring me to life
And remind me there's another side of day
Where I will see all that You are
More than a sky full of stars
And the worries of this world will fall away
On the other side of day
Is it time that gets the best of us?
Reminding all the rest of us
That it's fading, yeah, it's fading
Oh, but You still hold the hands of time
And pave the way to paradise
Can You take me? Yeah, can You take me?
'Cause the world is just a shadow of the sun
Only You remain the hope of what's to come
'Cause on a night like tonight, You bring me to life
And remind me there's another side of day
Where I will see all that You are
More than a sky full of stars
And the worries of this world will fall away
On the other side of day
Where all who are alone, finally make it home
To a world of wonder, where love is not a lie
And all who seek will find, their search is finally over
'Cause on a night like tonight, You bring me to life
And remind me there's another side of day, yeah
Where I will see all that You are
More than a sky full of stars
And the worries of this world will fall away
On the other side of day
