Beck, I Call You Love

I just found your letter I feel your sadness worlds apart and no words can say "I'm sorry" you're everything that matters and forever I'll know that if you call my name I'll follow in all my life no one so real untainted love with you I can ascend I'll go with you I go with you I won't look back so don't look back I won't look back I can call you love you can call me lover you can call me love Í can call you lover let me call you love won't you call me lover won't you please say "love" I'll love you forever hold out my hand I call your name please take me there no, I will not look back I go with you I go with you I go with you I'll grow with you I go with you

I go with you
