

Bee Gees, It Makes No Difference

You made a promise , so did i
You'd never leave me alone
You wake me up in the middle of the night
Take what you what and you're gone

Tell me a reason for what I am
I'll never win this game you play
You wake me up in the middle of a dream
You make it over , that's ok

It takes a million years for us to Understand it all
All the love you need is why

It makes no difference now
There is no other you
I'd rather die without you
Then let you go
My seasons in the sun
So many moments wasted
My love is living for you
And you should know

You make my world a better place
But I don't see you around , 'round , 'round
Could there be others I'm replacing
No more love to be found

It takes a million years to make
You understand your heart
Let my love lay where it falls

It makes no difference now
There is no other you
I'd rather die without you
Then let you go
My seasons in the sun
So many moments wasted
My love is living for you
And you should know

It makes no difference now
It makes no difference now
It makes no difference now

It makes no difference now
There is no other you
I'd rather die without you
Then let you go
My seasons in the sun
So many moments wasted
My love is living for you
And you should know

(repeat last verse and fade out)
