

Behind Enemy Lines, Advancing The Cause

Bush backs out of the 1972 ABM treaty, supposedly in the interests of national defense Determined to resurrect Reagan's nuclear monster
Ignoring the world tension that this action presents
Jerry Falwell had the nerve to place the blame at the feet of feminists, abortionists, gays and lesbians and the ACLU all of who have offended god for attempting to secularize this Christian-founded nation Pat Buchanan's xenophobic posturing has only gotten louder in calling for America to close all of our borders Why is it that those with the lowest morality are obsessed with trying to push their ideals on the rest of society?
In the midst of human tragedy the political games begin Placing the blame on weak national defense and immigration
The political vultures have been busy manufacturing fear and of course they have all the answers to make our problems disappear
Desensitized to the suffering and the thousands of lives lost
Capitalizing on the carnage to push their agenda through at any cost
Raising money and passing their laws
Exploiting the dead to advance their cause
How can this tragedy advance my cause?
How can this suffering advance my cause?
How can this fear advance my cause?
How can this body pile advance my cause?
Every safety measure these people offer is just another moral con
Taking advantage of uncertainty to manipulate us into pawns
Self-serving interests are sought without a single shred of decency
Holding violence over our heads and promising stability
To those with a political agenda this tragedy was a blessing in disguise because now oppression is protection and dare not be scrutinized Intolerance is now patriotism, the rising tide of nationalism it's been the unifying catalyst for country and religion
How can this tragedy advance my cause?
How can this suffering advance my cause?
How can this fear advance my cause?
How can this body pile advance my cause?
Desensitized to the suffering and the thousands of lives lost
Capitalizing on the carnage to push their agenda through at any cost
Raising money and passing their laws
Exploiting the dead to advance their cause
So we have another oilman in the Whitehouse, an absolute imbecile
Moral delinquents wear the cloth, Nazis on capital hill
You can see the excitement in their eyes, behind their crocodile tears pushing their agendas, the ones they've pushed for years but now seizing the opportunity by exploiting this catastrophe while painting themselves as patriots to hide their petty bigotry
They champion their cause by climbing up the body pile Becoming king of the hill has made this tragedy all worthwhile
How can this tragedy advance my cause?
How can this suffering advance my cause?
How can this fear advance my cause?
How can this body pile advance my cause?
