

Bel Canto, Sleep In Deep

while the cold wind blows the heroes return
left are troubled souls that nothing but yearn for a better day
for some rightfulness will their wounds get healed?

rest body and mind
let them sleep in peace their minds demand a release from the dread they hold, oh do I need to see what eyes can not bear? do I need to hear

that nobody cares?
for the things I have done and the things I've learnt are now scars in me

rest body and mind
let me sleep in deep and disembodify the fear and the fright I hide but until then I will pray that I'll hold on to...