

Belinda Carlisle, Where Love Hides

I open the door
You stand there in the rain
Your eyes say it all
I know 'cause I feel the same

Why do we do the things we do?
How can both of us be so cruel?
Why are we so afraid?

Take my hand and step into the light
As we touch our hearts will open wide
Kiss my lips and hold me now
And lie here by my side
Help me find a place where love hides
We will find the place where love hides

I follow you home
You smile there in the dark
I hear your words
How they twist me and tear me apart

Why do we hurt the ones we trust?
Is that all that's become of us?
Why are we so afraid?

Take my hand and step into the light
As we touch our hearts will open wide
Kiss my lips and hold me now
and lie here by my side
Help me find the place where love hides
We will find the place where love hides