

Belle Perez, What Am I To Do

You are leaving today
You want to go your own way
And though it's breaking my heart
I won't say so

Life will go on baby after you're gone
Maybe it's better this way
Still I don't understand
We had to come to an end
I thought our mutual feelings were stronger
One day you'll see you will remember me
And how we used to be way back when

And thought it's not a big thing
It's raining in my heart
My whole world falls apart

What am I to do without your love
Where am I to go when you're not here
Tell me it's not true say it ain't so
What am I to do without you

Oh I can't say goodbye
No matter how much I try
I'm sure that I won't forget you
Something inside me tells me after tonight
I know that one day we might meet again

That's the day you will know
Everlasting love grows
In the heart of two people believing
And time is a friend when broken hearts mend
With a smile of the sound 'hello'

That day the sun will shine
And my feet won't touch the ground
The second time around

What am I to do without your love
Where am I to go when you're not here
Tell that it's true I need you so
What am I to do without you

Listen to your heart
Without you
Whenever you feel blue
Oh I feel blue
One day you will see
There's no me without you

What am I to do without your love
Where am I to go when you're not here
Tell that it's true I need you so

What am I to do without your love
Where am I to go when you're not here
Tell that it's true I need you so
What am I to do without you