

Ben Bledsoe, Drownin'

I never thought that the sunrise
Could ever make me cry
It woke up memories of last night
I'd hoped were dreams gone by

Lost in a moment I went wrong
Now's not the moment to act strong

Cause I'm drownin'
In a sea of yesterday
I'm surrounded
By the moment that you lost your faith
In me

We share the touch of the moonlight
That never goes away
I look around at this room I
See nothing but your face

They couldn't tell us what we are
You've always been my shining star

But I'm drownin'
In a sea of yesterday
I'm surrounded
By the moment that you lost your faith in me
When I went too far, and all our stars collide
Now I'm drownin'
Inside

I'd sink in the oceans of your eyes
I'd burn from the flame of passions fire
How can the memories all be washed away
From that moment locked in time

'Cause I'm drownin'
In a sea of yesterday
I'm surrounded
By the moment that you lost your faith in me
When I went too far, and all our stars collide
Now I'm drownin'
Inside

Now I'm Drownin'
Inside
