

Ben Harper, Breakin' Down

You don't believe that I love you
And even if that was true
Why just keep our unhappy home
I'm gonna pretend that I do
But I'm breakin' down
I'm breakin' down
I'm breakin' down
I'm breakin' down
My baby she left me
said she ain't comin' back around
and I'm breakin' down
I'm breakin' down

And if I thought that it was okay
For a grown man to cry
I would ahve filled upthe whole mighty ocean
When she said goodbye
But I'm breakin' down
I'm breakin' down
I'm breakin' down
I'm breakin' down
My baby she left me
said she ain't comin' back around
and I'm breakin' down
I'm breakin' down

One day you said everything was just right
I don't see how it changed overnight
One day you said everything was so strong
The next day you turn to me and say
It's been wrong all along

Oh and now you won't even look at me
You pass me by the sreet and you won't even speak
I never mean't to cause you any harm
How could two people start so close
And end up so far
I'm breakin' down
I'm breakin' down
I'm breakin' down
I'm breakin' down
How many miles must we march
How many miles must we march
How many miles must we march
