

Ben Harper, Woman In You

Could've sworn I heard you say amen this morning, showing some kind of sign that you believe Did it fall from your tongue without warning or just another trick to fall from your sleeve Did I hear you say that you believe in angels?
I guess I bring the devil out in you But we can both remove our halos
'cause even an angel needs love too even an angel needs love too

The woman in you is the worry,
the worry in me
The woman in you is the worry,
the worry in me

Some things never change;
Some things never stay the same But your so innocent, I'll take all the blame How I hate to remember for that means the day is past Sometimes I wonder if I know her or if I really need to ask or if i really need to ask

The woman in you is the worry,
the worry in me
The woman in you is the worry,
the worry in me
The woman in you is the worry,
the worry in me
Woman...(x7)

Half-man walks with no shadow of life he utters his distaste
No apology is expected
Love carved sorry in his face
Love carved sorry in his face

The woman in you is the worry,
the worry in me
The woman in you is the worry,
the worry in me
The woman in you is the worry,
the worry in me
Woman...(x10)