Ben Kweller, Fight

He is a trucker burning the highway His heart is strong as stone Counting them yard lines, passing them hard times Riding that black tide home You gotta fight, fight, fight, fight all the way You gotta fight, fight, fight, all the way You gotta set your sight on the lord in your life You gotta fight till your dying day She is an intern fighting the love burn Rolling out tears like a wave That angel's boyfriend left her with nothing But she'll never be his slave You gotta fight, fight, fight, fight all the way You gotta fight, fight, fight, all the way You gotta set your sight on the lord in your life You gotta fight till your dying day Oh come on

How you looking southbound?
I'm like my grandma, short but I stand tall
Playing every single card that's dealt to me
You know some days are aces and some days are faces
Well some days are twos and threes
So you gotta fight, fight, fight, fight all the way
You gotta fight, fight, fight, all the way
You gotta set your sight on the lord in your life
You gotta fight, fight, fight, fight all the way
You gotta fight, fight, fight, all the way
You gotta fight, fight, all the way
You gotta set your sight on the lord in your life
You gotta fight till your dying day
You gotta fight till your dying day
You gotta fight till your dying day
You gotta fight till your dying day
