

Ben Kweller, Hurtin' You

Where's that smile at?
Where'd you take it to?
I never thought that anything could hurt you
Tell me every Thing you're going through
I never thought that anything could hurt you
Don't forget yourself child
Your the only thing that could pull it through
We are helpless without you
Come back to us
With that smile you always do
I never thought that anything could hurt you
Something came in
That changed your pretty point of view
I never thought that anything could hurt you
Don't forget yourself child
Your the only thing that could pull it through
We are helpless without you
Hey now, wake up
We need you to come on
And pull it through
'Cause right now everything
Is hurtin' you
It's hurtin' you