Ben Lee, Pathetic

Things seemed so nice for the first few weeks Didn't care - she didn't notice me Then I asked her does she wanna hang out Get something to eat

She said I'm just another guy with high hopes A real sorry sight I'm also half her height I'm just another guy in the crowd She laughed at me I died

I wrote her a song, took me a real long time To get everything to rhyme Read in a magazine girls like it best When you're honest with them

She said the song sucked big time I'm a talentless clown She doesn't want me around She said the final goodbye A punch in my eye I died, I died
