

Benjamins, Couch

your side of the couch
I'm afraid to be on it
I'm afraid of the memories it brings it's killing my buzz
just wondering where the hell it went all the nights we spend hiding from the world

(chorus)
I try to laugh about it but it looks like the joke's on me if I could ever get that whole year back that would be my lucky day sometimes I think of you but it's cool to be alone it's nice to not have to fight for my blanket it's just an old green couch but it feels like home again molly ringwald, me and you, 16 candles, lonely summers

I blew it all again it's kind of funny, where do we stand?
I know someone's gonna take my spot I know that you're gonna be a star

your side of the couch
I'm afraid to be on it
I'm afraid of the memories it brings
it's killing my buzz
just wondering where the hell it went all the nights we spent hiding from the world

(chorus)
