

Berman, My Darker Side

The less i become the more you're becoming my name next to nothing i'm followed closer in the steps i lead one in front of the other carrying me
and burying me

i want you to be
the beacon on my sea
the change in me
i want you to see
my softer side
my darker side

i've learned that i've lost all i've loved and all for a first love my life can live and die with me but i'll never be enough to replace you to face you

i want you to be
the beacon on my sea
the change in me
i want you to see
my softer side
my darker side

the beacon on my sea
the change in me
i want you to see
my softer side

these cold hands are callusing bring me to reality
take my mind
and these tired eyes
break my pride
my darker side
