

Berman, The End Of Me

Turn and lock the room
never be found again
a voice like a stranger and all out of anger
and i know you feel it too

pass away the old
lay to rest my friend
pass away the old

this will be the end
this will be the end of me
i will start again
i will start again with you

this is where it ends
a shadow's all thats left its always been stronger its always been longer
and i know you feel it too

pass away the old
lay to rest my friend
pass away the old

this will be the end
this will be the end of me
i will start again
i will start again with you

this will be the end
this will be the end of me
i will start again
i will start again with you

this will be the end
this will be the end of me
i will start again
i will start again with you