Beseech, In Her Arms

And so I close my eyes I wait for her Please help me die, please end my tears Standing by the sea, watching her ragering waves Beautyful as she no one could ever be Praying for the rain, to wash me down to hear And to end my pain, forever in her arms again She takes my hand, she leads the way In a distant land where silence dry my tears Rain is pouring down the storm will be here soon Meeting her alone, midnight is her gown The wind never calms, as it caress my face The cold feel so warm as I dive into her arms And I close my eyes I wait for her Please help me die Please end my tears
