

Beth Crowley, Midnight

I know I'm different,
than what you expected.
But I've been playing a role,
It's time that you know the truth.
You may not want me anymore,
I'm not what you've been looking for,
but under these pieces and parts
is a beautiful heart and it loves you.

So meet me at midnight,
find me by moonlight.
I've been waiting for so long
to feel like I'm whole.
More than what you see,
please don't define me.
This is bigger than you and I,
so give me a chance
and meet me at midnight.

Always told what to believe,
now nothing is quite what it seemed.
It's a battle of head versus heart,
can't tell them apart like before.
But the truth is concealed in the lies,
I've decided I'm done trying to hide.
I won't sit back and watch the world burn,
when I know it's my turn to fight this war.

So meet me at midnight,
find me by moonlight.
I've been waiting for so long
to feel like I'm whole.
More than what you see,
please don't define me.
This is bigger than you and I,
so give me a chance
and meet me at midnight.

The fog starts to lift.
Is my mind playing tricks?
'Cause you look like home.
Then I know this real, I trust what I feel that neither of us has to be alone.
We don't have to be alone.

So meet me at midnight,
find me by moonlight.
I've been waiting for so long
to feel like I'm whole.
More than what you see,
please don't define me.
This is bigger than you and I,
so give me a chance
and meet me at midnight.