Biffy Clyro, Hope For An Angel

I believe in the human need to believe there's hope for an angel One who's gone, for he had become, in the sky there's space for an angel Overhead, if you look real hard, you will see that there's millions of angels One who's gone, for he had become, in the sky there's space for an angel

I believe in the human need to believe there's hope for an angel One who's gone, for he had become, in the sky there's space for an angel Into the sky there's a space for an angel Look to the sky there's a space for an angel