

Biffy Clyro, Time As An Imploding Unit/Waiting For

I hear the clock tick on the wall,
I don't know its not that far
I see the hope inside you die
You're not older, you will implode.

I am waiting for an answer to
All the lies they told to try and spoil you

We were half a hour away from you
Facing white, facing white
Can't have, lost the sweetness of your heart
While waiting for green, waiting for green.

I have grown up, you are grown and feeling stronger, feeling stronger
Memories fade but regrets just make them stay forever, last forever
I have grown up, you are grown and feeling stronger, feeling stronger
Memories fade but regrets just make them stay forever, last forever

Growing up, growing up, growing up, growing up
Growing up, growing up, growing up, growing up
Growing up, growing up, growing up, growing up
Growing up, growing up, growing up, growing...

Everything you left me was the same as I can Everything you wanted was the same as I can Everything you needed was the same as I can...