Big Country, Long Way Home

Come on lay your hands on me Feel the will of God's TV I will save you every one And you can pay me when I'm done 100,000 Jesus Children All dressed up and no-one with them Lead them not into temptation With your tales of hell's damnation Searching for the long way home Out upon the China sea Boats will run eternally Storms on land and storms assail Captains roar and the women wail A half a million Nixon babies Some with toys and some with rabies Hunted by the man in black No room here man send them back Searching for the long way home

Searching for the long way home Searching for the long way home Searching for the long way home Underneath your own safe sky You may never wonder why Some will never make their peace Some have never been released Fires in the L.A. sky The truth ran out and justice died You better arm the National Guard Cause final notice has been served Searching for the long way home The long way home
