

Big Sugar, Empty Head

(P. Ballantyne/G. Johnson)

I check the mail and I watch my phone
I used to wonder was my baby at home?
And I used to wonder what I might have done
And I sought comfort in anyone

I'm laying in an empty bed tonight
Wish I had an empty head tonight

There's no such thing as the only one
There's no such thing as the only one

So please tell me baby what's getting wrong with you?
You don't treat me half way nothing like you used to do

Are you laying in an empty bed tonight?
Wish I had an empty head tonight

Well, there's no such thing as the only one
There's no such thing as the only one
There's no such thing as the only one

I check the mail and I watch my phone
I used to wonder was my baby at home?

I'm laying in an empty bed tonight
I wish I had - wish I had an empty head tonight

There's no such thing as the only one
There's no such thing as the only one
There's no such thing as the only one
Well, there's no such thing as the only one