

Big Sugar, Gone For Good

(P. Ballantyne/G. Johnson)

Just when I'm thinking about
Times when I cared
My time was wasted but
I can't find time
If I thought that it would help, I would

Keep on searching inside my head
Tell ya, I'm still looking for True friend, you said
Well, I used to have the world in you
Now I wonder if it's gone for good

I wonder if she understood
I wonder if she's gone for good

'Cause I don't know the face
That is staring back at me
If I go and leave no trace
Will you stay and leave me be?
And I swear I'll never see you again

I got a woman weighs me on down
She bought a pistol and she Took herself down
Maybe if I asked her nice, she would
Well, I wonder if she's gone for good

If I thought that it would help, I would
I wonder if she's gone for good

I wonder if she understood
I wonder if she's gone for good
