Bill Anderson, Once a Day

When you found somebody new I thought I never would Forget you for I thought then I never could

But time has taken all the pains away until now I'm down to hurtin' once a day Once a day all day long and once a night from dusk till dawn

The only time I wish you weren't gone is once a day every day all day long [steel]

I'm so glad that I'm not like a man I knew one time

He lost the one he loved then slowly lost his mind

He sat around and cried his life away lucky me I'm only crying once a day Once a day all day long...

Once a day every day all day long
