

Bill Miller, I'll Wait For You

Every now and then, I forget about you
All the things you said, the things we used to do
Then the sun goes down and the night sets in
And in this lonely town your memory never ends

Seasons may pass me by year after year
But this love will never die and I'll still be here
When you need someone to care
Someone to come home to
Till then, I'll wait for you

Out in Colorado or down in Tennessee
It doesn't matter where you are, your home's still here with me
So I'll keep on prayin' that someday you'll find
What you've been earching for is what you left behind
