Bill Miller, Street Of Dreams

Deep in the heart of a city night
There's a young girl dancing free
Twiling in cirlce by the front porch light
Out on the street of dreams, out on the street of dreams

Further down theres a family
Theres a young couple in their teens
Their baby smiling at a barking dog
It was down on the street of dreams
There on the street of dreams

And they still go where they want to And the will be who the will be Cause there are no walls around their hearts On the street of dreams, their on the street of dreams

Two older men talk of days gone by And of a world they've never seen Their hearts are young but they've traveled far On down the street of dreams, their on the street of dreams

And they still go where they want to And the will be who the will be Cause there are no walls around their hearts On the street of dreams

And you can go where you want to You can be who you will be Cause there are no walls around your heart On the street of dreams

And you can go where you want to You can be who you will be Cause there are no walls around your heart On the street of dreams, we're on the street of dreams

Deep in the heart of a city night
Theres a young girl dancing free
Twiling in cirlce by the front porch light
Out on the street of dreams, out on the street of dreams

There on the street of dreams...... Were on the street of dreams.
