

Bill Nye, Cross-Pollination

We are plants and here's our song
Promise it won't take too long

Although this claim may seem rude
Unlike you we make our food
The process is as simple as this
A thing called photosynthesis

We drink in sun 'til we've had our fill
Use green stuff called chlorophyll
Water and CO₂ react
Oxygen and food are had

We are plants and here's our song
Promise it won't take too long

We are plants and we hate to boast
But just try that with eggs and toast
Now it's time we should go away
But we can't move, so we'll have to stay

And we are plants and here's our song
Promise it won't take too long
